Dear Dr. Kaczynski:

Please excuse this hand-written note, but I am writing to you in haste. I received your manuscript today (minus the appendices). Although I have only read four chapters, I wanted you to know that my impression is very favorable.

Regarding your fears about the book's readability, they are unsubstantiated. I find it very interesting. I will write a detailed letter to you presently.

Yours,

Baron-Riedlander.

P.S. I called Serra (who was at a trial) and left a message informing him that I think the book is good and that we need to talk in the near future.
